

Spring Georetreat: the Trossachs 8-10 March 2019

Geology, good food and sparkling company based in a large, comfortable house in the Trossachs. Short excursions to local sites of interest, including the fantastic geology of nearby locations such as Callander and Aberfoyle, exploring the Highland Boundary Fault and the Ice Age. Depending on the weather, excursions might last for an hour or two or most of the day, then back to base to relax in front of the fire, with optional short talks and geological discussion: this is a great informal opportunity for a general introduction to geology or to get into more detail of any subject that interests you.

This three-day Georetreat will be based at Corshill cottage at Thornhill, a spacious holiday house with a large garden and wood-burning stove. Accommodation, food and geological instruction all included.

Details

Cost £190 including guide, accommodation & food, but not including travel (although car sharing can be arranged). Single supplement £40.

Accommodation & Food We will be based at Corshill cottage at Thornhill – double, twin and single rooms are available. All food is included: self-service breakfast and lunch, and catered evening meals (including a meal out locally).

Level of fitness required If you want to fully take part in all the planned activities you will need a basic level of fitness and to be used to walking on rough paths. The excursions will be weather dependent, and involve short walks at a slow to moderate pace, with plenty of flexibility.

Booking Conditions To confirm your booking, please pay a deposit of £50 per person – ask for details to make a bank transfer, or send a cheque payable to Geowalks. Final payment is due four weeks in advance – programme and reminder will be sent in advance of this.

If you cancel your booking, refunds will usually only be available if someone else takes your place. In the unlikely event of the trip being cancelled, you will be informed immediately and receive a full refund.
